

XM Satellite Radio is the next generation of entertainment, providing live, 24-hour access, from any location throughout the US without the noise of unwanted solicitations and commercials.

Since purchasing XM Radio a few months back both for my home office and my vehicle, I rarely listen to the static-prone, often mundane, and repetitive content provided by local broadcasters. XM Radio is fresh, creative, dependable, crisp, and always available anywhere unlike radio stations that fade when you move out of their range.

I live in the Washington, DC area so the 24-hour traffic and weather channels are extremely important to me when traveling for work or pleasure. XM's channel lineup provides a huge variety of entertainment for me to choose from, no other broadcaster can make that claim.

It's very important that the NAB understand that XM is the future of creative broadcasting entertainment and that maybe, perhaps, NAB could learn a few things from XM.

Sincerely,
